Dear Ken:-

Sally just got your letters and I do want to say, Go easy! Everyone is entitled to his opinions but there are times when we must conceive our opinions - Most people can't take it - even in the most even keel among the best of friends or family - remember W.H. is a touchy subject – mostly to themselves because of criticisms from both sides.

In one thing, don't become stubborn or think it is a matter of pride. Pride has its quality only when it doesn't drive one to illogic thinking. People don't expect others to state all they know – you can find out for yourself but use that information with discretion.

Oh, I'm not going on. Its turning like Shirakawa's sermon I just listened too. Only please, remember be cautious. Righteousness or justice is not the glowing light. You have a family to think about. A job to find. Why make
