A COMMENTARY ON THE NOGUCHI FIRING

By S. Hayashi

In the wake of the recent firing of Dr. Thomas Noguchi as county coroner, many of the inadequacies of county government have come to light. Editorialists in the Long Beach Press Telegram and radio station KPFA have come out against the mordant and overbearing manner in which Dr. Noguchi was ousted.

Racial bias has been charged by Noguchi's wife and Bill Mayer of the Press Telegram who writes that racial discrimination permeates the county promotional system.

Unusual to Say the Least

The handling of the Noguchi case has been unusual to say the least. He was suspended upon withdrawing his resignation, with no chance to answer the charges, the suspension was based almost entirely on the accusations of L.S. Hollinger, county chief administrative officer.

So, who does the County Board of Supervisors appoint to investigate, report and recommend action? Mr. Hollinger—the very man who lodged the accusation in the first place.

We wonder why Hollinger can exert such influence on the Board of Supervisors; how can he accuse on the one hand and then be expected to conduct an unbiased investigation, and recommend appropriate action?

The county supervisors unanimously suspended Noguchi, and later unanimously fired him. All of this was done on the basis of accusations, investigations, reports, and recommendations of one man—L.S. Hollinger.

The charges are mental instability and excessive use of pills. The former will be difficult to prove and the latter does not appear to be a justification for the firing.

These things are compounded by the fact that the Board offered an unequal salary to this mentally unstable pill addict.

No Enryu!!

The dispute appears to be a personality conflict between Noguchi and Hollinger, with Hollinger obviously the more influential, overtones of racial discrimination are evident and cannot be ignored.

Noguchi has chosen not to "enryu," He has decided to fight for what he thinks is right, and in taking this stand he has bolstered the Asian community by showing yellow people do not always roll over and play dead.

With the implications of racial discrimination and the influence of L.S. Hollinger, the county supervisors must know they are on the spot. They are the accuser and the burden of proof rests with them.

A RESPONSE TO OPPRESSION

"Those who make peaceful revolution impossible make violent revolution inevitable."

—John F. Kennedy

By Kaniij

Recently a different kind of organization has appeared on many college campuses, Afro-Americans, Mexican-Americans, Asian-Americans, American Indians, and other people of color have come together to form what have come to be called "Third World" organizations.

At Berkeley and at San Francisco State, an organization known as the Third World Liberation Front (TWLF) is trying to "create programs that are responsive to the needs of people of color." Student strikes, violence, both by police and striking students, and mass arrests have marked this struggle for "self-determination."

What is the Third World Liberation Front and what does it hope to accomplish?

The Right of Self-Determination

The late Franz Fanon, whose writings have been the source of much of the ideology of the Third World movement, used the term to describe the economically oppressed, colonial countries of Africa, Latin America, and Asia. This concept of oppressed and exploited peoples is echoed by TWLF.

Essentially the TWLF is saying that oppressed peoples reproduce the military-industrial complex," writes Dr. Juan Martinez in the Peninsula Observer, a Palo Alto newspaper. "We will not be educated and trained to sustain, rationalize, or justify an expansionist, capitalist, imperialist society. The TWLF identifies with the economically, politically, and militarily exploited and oppressed peoples throughout the world, whom the U.S. uses and from whom American "minorities" descend. The peoples of Africa, Asia, and America are our relatives. They want and need their economic independence."

The focus of the TWLF struggle is the eradication of institutionalized racism. The "Third World College," a program to be administered by Third World people, is a major demand of the TWLF at both campuses. The exercise of self-determination in this case, the administration of the Third World College is viewed as a necessary step in ending institutionalized racism. An editorial in the TWLF newspaper states, "It is not obvious that we should control all programs which will affect the lives of people in our communities. We do not need non-Third World people to do it for us; we are capable of doing it ourselves. We reject the paternalism of the condescending, patronizing non-Third World people who would control the destinies of the Third World people."

End Racism and Exploitation

TWLF believes that basic changes in the socio-economic structure of this country will have to take place if racism is to be totally eliminated. "Individual or institutional racism flows from a system, capitalism, which profits and perpetuates it," states a TWLF statement. It goes on to say that the right to self-determination in all aspects of our lives is the principle which can smash not only racism but the system itself.

Another immediate goal is the elimination of existing situations where Third World people are "exploited," exploitation being defined as the practice of profiting at the expense of another. The Third World believes that all forms of exploitation, whether perpetrated by whites or non-whites, must be dealt with. As one Asian member explained, "when we find people in our own community exploiting their own people, we will come down hard on these people."

Whites in the Third World

"Ideally, the Third World includes all oppressed peoples of the world," declared a member of Berkeley TWLF. "The Third World is a state of mind, an attitude toward oppression, rather than a color of skin."

Richard Aoki of the TWLF Central Committee, Berkeley, used the following incident to describe the "Third World mentality."

The pigs (police) charged. I saw a Chicano brother go down. His head was split open by a pig baton. A white medie jumped.

YELLOW PROSTITUTION

By Dinora Git

At a time when people of color are getting together to free themselves from oppressive attitudes and institutions, it is particularly paradoxical and ridiculous that we should be blind to, and subsequently accept an even more sinister form of oppression existing in our own beds.

It is sinister because neither the oppressor nor the oppressed seem to be aware of it, nor do they seem to care. To get right to the point, I am speaking of the subjugation of the female of the species. This is obvious to those who care to look at the divorce laws (which are based on the need to protect the helpless female), job opportunities, pay scales, and educational expectations for women also reflect this subjugation.

The role of women in this society is that of a subservient supporter of the fragile male ego. The derivative male laugh in response to this only serves to support our contention. Isn’t it bad enough to have Black stereotypes, Brown stereotypes, and Oriental stereotypes? Must we also have female stereotypes? We are told that we are emotional and ad lib-brained. Is our place only in the home?

Boxes

In particular, I would like to address the Yellow female. This paragon of “Femininity” has excelled in being sweet, docile, servile, and vacuous. It is not enough that we must “know tow” to the Yellow male ego, but we must do this by aping the Madison Avenue and Hollywood version of White femininity. All the plastic, foam rubber, and scotch-tape will not transform you into what you are not. If Reveln came out with a rack to stretch legs—guess who would be the first to use it? You will always be inferior if you strive to become that which you can never be.

My Sad People

How sad Yellow Brother you must be, born so small and loving—tiny hands reaching... just to grasp... just to have a warmth... just to hear, “I love you, you are mine.”

And who will love you, sad Yellow Brother... sad little brother of mine.

How sad Yellow Sister you will be, to learn that you are mute—pretty voice longing... just to speak... just to sing a song... just to say, “I love you, you are mine.”

And who will love you, sad Yellow Sister... sad little sister of mine.

How sad my family should be, to be so short in thinking young men dying... just to be free... just to give us life... just to prove, “I love you, you are mine.”

And who will love them my Yellow Family... sad Yellow Family of mine.

How sad my people... we needn’t be... strong and join the marching we all are fighting... just to be... just to have our way... just to be proud of our heritage To be together and love all mankind—And who will love you, my Yellow People... sad Yellow People of mine...

Who will love you, my sad Yellow People? “I love you, you are mine.”

P.S. but you miss me off one Heil of a lot...1

YELLOW BROTHERHOOD PLANS CAR WASH...

Los Angeles—“Dope, fighting, and dropout! These are the very real problems that face a significant portion of Oriental youth today,” stated a member of the Yellow Brotherhood, an organization of young men that is actively doing its part to alleviate the problem of delinquency and crime. He continued, “We find most Oriental adults refuse to believe that these anti-social behaviors exist in their sons and daughters. Our conservative estimate is that 75 per cent of high school and junior high school boys are using or have used marijuana or drugs at one time or another. And fighting is widespread. We are not talking of the normal fighting of every youth but of gang fights. How many of you remember the big clash between Eastside gangs and Westside gangs that took place several years ago? How many of you remember the guy that got busted for driving a stolen car?”

Necessary But Not Sufficient

YELLOW POWER!

By Larry Kubota

"Power concedes nothing without demand. It never did and it never will. Find out just what any people will quietly submit to and you have found out the exact measure of injustice and wrong which will be imposed upon them, and these will continue till they are resisted with either words or blow, or with both. The limits of tyrants are prescribed by the endurance of those whom they oppress."

Frederick Douglas

In Los Angeles in 1871, a mob of a thousand persons marched into the Chinese section, seized victims, overpowered the officers of the law and hanged at least 22 Chinese men, women, and children. No attempt was made to bring these people to justice.

Asian American history is filled with innumerable racist incidents. Some are overt, such as the one given above. Others are covert—psychological oppression, educational deprivation, and economic exploitation—and are equally destructive.

Looking back into the past, it is incredible that we have taken so long to confront this problem of racism. We are relegated to second-class citizenship, and adding insult upon injury, we are told to be thankful for our blessings.

We tried only the tactic of adaptation. We responded to their treatment with an "Oriental" smile and a polite "thank you."

Asian Pride

Today, however, is the dawn of a new era. We have finally reached the limits of our tolerance and have begun to explore a new alternative. Asian Americans have rediscovered their spirit and pride and are becoming a force to be reckoned with. In San Francisco, San Mateo, Los Angeles, and elsewhere, yellow people are fighting side by side with other third World people for reform in society, and in particular, the educational system.

This is a new role for the Asian American. It is a rejection of the passive Oriental stereotype and symbolizes the birth of a new Asian—one who will recognize and deal with injustices. The shout of Yellow Power, symbolic of our new direction, is reverberating in the quiet corridors of the Asian community.

"Asian parents push their children to 'make it,' not realizing that when the process is complete, children may reject their parents."

Yellow Power is symbolic of the type of rapid social change occurring today which no group or individual can ignore. It is apparent, however, that many of us do not understand the meaning of Yellow Power and its relationship to the changes currently taking place in American Society.

Yellow Power means that we as Asian Americans are seeking greater control over the direction of our lives. It also expresses a determination to effect constructive changes in the larger society. It is not a call for Asians to move out of the mainstream of American life, but instead it says that we should able to dictate some of the terms of entry into that mainstream.

Some have asked why do we need Yellow Power? There are three basic reasons. First, Yellow Power must develop for the self-preservation of yellow people in America. Second, it must develop so that we can determine our own destiny. And third, it must develop so that Asian Americans can contribute to the creation of a truly humane society.

To answer the question regarding the necessity of Yellow Power for our self-preservation, let us review a few events in our history, some of which are cited by Dr. Harry H. L. Kim in his book, The Japanese in the United States:

- Rock Springs, Wyoming, 1885: 29 Chinese are murdered, their homes destroyed and their belongings scattered, because the Chinese were perceived as economic threats.
- U.S.A., 1942: 110,000 Japanese-Americans are imprisoned in concentration camps without trial.
- U.S. Congress, 1955: Oklahoma Congressman Joel Johnson proposes mass sterilization of the Japanese in the concentration camps.
- Los Angeles, 1969: The Council of Oriental Organizations is ousted from a meeting of the Concerned Citizens for Community Colleges—the Los Angeles version of the White Citizen's Council. The reason given for the ouster is that the Oriental community is "politically irrelevant."

The foregoing clearly illustrate the outrageous and frequently violent acts perpetrated against Asian Americans by this so-called democratic society. It should be remembered that in America, all people of color have suffered as much or more. The condition of people of color in America is one of helplessness and powerlessness.

Yellow Power is a call to reject our past and present condition of powerlessness. When we attain a position of power in this society, we can have more control over our lives and begin to determine our own destiny. This is the second reason for Yellow Power.

White-washed Asians

Traditionally, yellow people have spent a great deal of time observing the behavior and manners of white people. We have tried to act like them, speak like them, look like them, and be like them in every way. We have even been willing to sacrifice family relationships to emulate whites. For example, Asian parents push their children to "make it," not realizing that when the process is complete, children may reject their parents. The children feel ashamed of their parents because their parents do not measure up to the white standards that they have been told to hold supreme.

It is time we understood that white people cannot be taken as models. More than anyone else, it is they who are in dire need of reevaluating their standards and values. It is they who have been guilty of bigotry and hypocrisy. It is they who have created a country where racism is rampant.

The white youth of today are learning that George Washington, the father of our country, was a slave owner. They are ashamed as they watch the heroes of their fathers on television killing Indians, enslaving black men, colonizing Brown men, and demeaning Yellow men, all in an effort to sustain the myth of white supremacy.

We must recognize, as Eichard Cleaver suggests, that it is among the White youth of the world that the greatest change is taking place. It is they who feel the pain of finding their inherited heroes turned into villians. In the world revolution now under way, the heroes are no longer people who are white. Today the heroes are Eichard Cleaver, Martin Luther King, Jr., Malcolm X, Mao Tse Tung, Che Guevara.

Tentative plans are being for-cilities and reading rooms.

The Brotherhood will devote their time on the weekends this month for their initial fund raising project—a series of car washes. The first of these will be held on April 14, from 8 am to 5 pm at 681 35th Street, Los Angeles. A

70-cent wash will be sold. Yellow Power is a call for all

Asian Americans to end the silence that has condemned us to suffer in this racist society and to unite with our Black, Brown, and Native brothers of the Third World for survival, self-determination, and the creation of a more humanistic society.

We must search our souls for the fire of the Asian warriors who fought for their people and their pride without fear of death.

In the words of one such warrior,

"Let the enemy touch your skin and you cut into his flesh; let him

pierce into your bone and you take his life."

THE THIRD WORLD
in. He kept the pigs from bearing on the brother and stopped them from dragging him by the legs to the wagon. He stayed until help arrived.
That white medico has the Third World mentality."

However, many Third World people realize that the situation facing a white person is considerably different from that facing a person of color. A member of TWLF explains, "White radicals can afford to play the game...they always have the option of leaving.

Colorful people have no such choice. They can never forget their color... The white radical can cut his hair and shave his beard off. What can the colorful person do?"

"White is Right"

Another factor makes close cooperation between whites and non-whites difficult. Many people involved in the Third World movement feel that whites suffer from a "white is right" complex.

"It’s a natural consequence of living in a society that favors whites," explained an Asian American professor at Berkeley. "All their lives whites are told that they are superior in every way. The colorful person is constantly pictured as not being as good or as smart or as able as the white person. The results of this "conditioning" are evident when whites and non-whites attempt to work together. White strikers have been known to ignore the orders of non-white strike monitors. A condescending attitude of 'Well, it’s your show, but I think I could do it better' sometimes prevails between the groups."

Despite the difficulties, there is optimism about eventual white participation in the Third World movement. A member of Berkeley Asian American Political Alliance sums it up, "Colorful people, because of their obvious oppression, have reached a certain level of consciousness. Later, when white people, who are slower in becoming aware of the severe and obvious oppression, reach a similar level of consciousness, there should be a place for them in the Third World."

On Violence

A striking white faculty member at Berkeley said about violence, "Physical violence is the mildest form of violence." Another student of TWLF added, "Lot more black students drop out or are kicked out of our schools. The average life expectancy for American Indians is 44 years. That is real violence. It is unfortunate that violence is sometimes the only course open, for many of the institutions of this country do not seem to respond to certain segments of our society. As Warren Furutani, formerly a student at the College of San Mateo, now attending San Jose State, explained, "When we righteously go out and do something wrong or when the administration or the people in power think that we are doing something wrong, what can they do? First thing they do, they pick up the phone and call the police, or it’s the same thing."

Mr. Furutani went on to explain, "'Why do people in this country condone the violence of the police and the army in Viet Nam but condemn the violence of Third World people who have no recourse?'"

On a campus forum, an Asian American said, "We have to be ready to defend ourselves against the police."

Now, at San Francisco State, approximately 600 arrests later, and at Berkeley, after 166 arrests, relative calm has returned to the campuses. But TWLF leaders warn that the struggle has just begun.

The commitment to the struggle must deepen. Many individuals have put their careers and their lives on the line for a cause that should concern all of us. In the words of an arrested College of San Mateo student, "The reason we’re in jail, the reason we have made a stand, is because we have made a commitment—not only to our own people, but to Third World peoples, and we are willing to stand up against the injustices and the indignities that have been shown to all people of color throughout the history of America... (and perhaps someday) what those hypocritical slave owners in the beginning of this nation wrote on that scarred parchment will someday come true—that all of us will be equal, that all of us can walk this land with our heads high."
